SUMMER SPECIAL

Things to do in Bournemouth this Summer!

Bournemouth, a place of sand and sea, is one of the nicest and warmest places in Britain especially during the summer. Having once been thought of more as a sleepy town, it has emerged as a go to place with plenty of activities for the whole family.

Bournemouth 2026 Trust offers some highlights of the great things that are available to do and going on in Bournemouth every week - especially free, low cost and/or community events. However we can't cover them all but you can find things to do on any day in the Dorset Echo through this link...

Bournemouth Pier Fireworks

Every Friday night from 26 July - 26 August, at 10 pm, are the summer fireworks put on free of charge for the entertainment of all. With plenty going on in the gardens too you can kick your evening of fun and entertainment off a bit earlier at 7pm. You'll see a fire show, stilt walkers, a circus workshop, face painting and the salvation army playing in the bandstand. So make a family evening of it and come down to the Bournemouth Pier Approach.

Candlelight Night at Bournemouth Lower Gardens

One of Bournemouth's oldest traditions is the annual candle lighting on a Wednesday evening in the Lower Gardens and this year is no exception! From dusk (around 7.30pm) every Wednesday throughout August the gardens comes alive as it is turned into a magical candlelit kingdom. All the family can come and see the beauty of the gardens and light hundreds of coloured glass jars. This is a firm favourite with many Bournemouth residents and has become a tradition for families over the years.
